

WASSUP

CHENNAI

MONDAY, APRIL 13, 2009

Oriental Cuisines

From being a Professor at the University Of Madras, to being a restaurateur - I have come a long way, but not without facing hardships. I started out with takeaway food outside the Ispahani Centre during the 1980s. Gradually, we formed a chain which expanded overseas too. Now, Oriental Cuisines owns a total of 46 units in India and more than 60 units abroad.

M Mahadevan

food prints

Chennai has all the answers to the foodie's quest for that perfect meal. From fine-dining with wine to lavish spreads fit for a king, from quick bites for those on the move to refreshing fruit juices, the city has it all. Neha Rafeek meets the food czars of the city...

